

Valley Creek Community Planning Process

The goal of the Valley Creek Preserve Community Planning Process is to focus and refine the public feedback received during public meetings in 2015, and gather stakeholder input on components of the Valley Creek Preserve Management Plan. While, as landowners, Wood River Land Trust retains authority on the management plan, it will closely coordinate with the City of Stanley and Idaho Department of Fish and Game before making decisions. The management plan will be a living document that is reviewed and modified over time, as appropriate.
